In looking over the three years during which we have had an existence as a Democratic journal, we have every reason to feel grateful for the amount of success with which we have been favored This time, three years ago, we commenced the publication of our paper, under most unfavorable circumstances. Since then, maugre the predictions of some of our federal friends, the prospects of our paper have continued day by day to brighten, till now we feel that the Democratic press in Wilmington rests upon as firm a basis as any other paper of either party in the State. Our circulation was indeed small when we took charge of the paper. It has now, however, increased to upwards of twelve hundred copies, which we feel confident is a farger circulation than has ever yet been obtained by any paper published in this place. For this, our success, we feel grateful to the Democratic party of this section of the State; for to them are we almost entirely indebted for the present prosperity of our press. We trust that during the three years we have been in existence, we have so conducted our paper as to meet with the ap probation of our patrons. Certainly we have endeavored to do so. We also trust that our future career will be alike pleasing to our patrons and ourselves.

BUT ENOUGH SAID.

Mr. Buchanan's Letter-The Wilmon Proviso.-We place before our readers a very important letter from the Hon, James Buchanan, to the people of Berks County, Pennsylvania. We are pleased to see that a man possessing the great abilities of Mr. Buchanan, and occupying the high and responsible post that he does, should, at a most critical moment, come out upon a question of such vast importance to the successs of the Democratic party. The letter of Mr. Buchanan breathes the sentiments of a pure patriot, and are calculated to raise its author still higher in the good opinion of his Democratic friends. throughout the length and breadth of the whole Union. He boldly and unequivocally opposes the Wilmot Proviso, and goes for the Missouri Compromise. Thus he takes the constitutional side of the question, and is willing to risk his popularity on the broad platform of that instrument. In a word, Mr. Buchanan, like a man who loves union above all other wordly considerations, has expressed himself as every true patriot should; and although he has not spoken in a manner different from what might have been expected from a high-minded and honest statesman, yet he has spoken language which every body knows does not accord with the feelings of a large portion of his immediate fellowcitizens. Most respectfully do we invite a careful perusal of Mr. Buchanan's letter.

Major General Patterson, Major Polk, to be discharged. Mr. Melvin thinks that (brother of the President,) Col. Abercromby, there will be a large number that will receive and some other officers of the U. S. Army, their discharge and return home.
